

HUG LIFE

COLLABORATION WITH YOUNG MASTER (HK)

We got to know the guys from Young

Master over the last year or so, and got to see how easy going they are. So when the idea of a collab came up we got as “laid back” as possible and came up with a Pineapple Pale Ale. Sounds pretty chill right? But of course, in this day and age we need to be responsible. So, like many others we decided to practice some good old Social Distancing which lead to our first ever “Socially Distanced” collaboration. This light, easy and tropical Pale Ale should hit the mark. We used the best malts from the UK and tons of oats to give it a really nice, simple body. And of course we double dry-hopped with both Mosaic and Citra to get it nice and flavorful. Then there’s the Pineapple – it kinda speaks for it’s self. If you need a hug (‘cos we sure do) this is the best we can offer... for now... Hope you enjoy!
