

MODERN ANTIQUE

A decade or two ago the west coast ipa - a style dear to our hearts, known for its bold pine/citrus hop profile and high bitterness - was at the forefront of the craft beer revolution. We are giving our modern take on this classic style with loads of citra, mosaic, simcoe and chinook to give that characteristic dank, resinous flavour with a crystal clear golden appearance that will twinkle in the spring weather. While modern antique will still have enough noticeable hop-bite, it's not trying to break the ibu-scale so that you're still able to taste something other than palate-wrecking bitterness after one beer. A thick, oily mouthfeel will coat your tongue letting the dank, hoppy resin linger with every sip.
