

ORIGINAL SIN

According to some, humanity is born with a built-in urge to do bad things. In that spirit, we tried to do something good when we designed this beer, using a massive malt base to create depth and complexity with the right amount of roasted malt and caramel notes. Upon that base we layered more than twice the amount of cocoa nibs that we've ever used in a beer before, along with a healthy dose of vanilla. What came out of the tank is a full-on dark chocolate parade for the palate – combining accents of milk chocolate, vanilla, and freshly roasted coffee with a deeply, rich cocoa coating for the entire mouth. Some say that we're all born into sin, so we may as well taste the forbidden fruit while we're here.
